City Council To Consider Financial Disclosure Law

Coming up for final reading at the September 9 city council meeting is a financial disclosure ordinance covering incumbent and prospective city council members and the city manager.

Under the proposal, each councilman and candidate for council will be required to identify business entities and/or real estate holdings in which he or his spouse and dependent children had ownership interest during the calendar year. In the case of business entities, the person need only report the nature and extent of the interest held if the ownership interest is more than 3 percent of the invested capital or is valued in excess of $1,000. (The person will also have to report the names of other persons who have an ownership interest, provided the numbers do not exceed 100.)

In the case of real estate holdings, the person need only report ownership interest which amounts to 3 percent or $10,000 of the invested capital.

Also to be reported is the source (but not the amount) of any income in excess of $100 a year except income from the city of Greenbelt or income from interest and dividends from savings accounts or governmental securities. The source of debts in excess of $500 other than loans or installment purchases from relatives or established lenders is to be reported as is the source of gifts in excess of $50 (except from relatives and employers).

Incumbent council members will be required to file financial reports with the city clerk twice a year — by April 30 (covering the activities of the preceding calendar year) and by July 31 (covering the first half of the current year). A candidate for council will be required to file the report at the time that he files his candidacy for office, and this report will cover the current year. All reports must be notarized.

The proposed law specifies that the city clerk will not accept any candidacy until the form is filed. Appointees to city council will be subject to the same reporting requirements as will also the city manager.

All financial reports will be open to inspection by the public during normal office hours and the city clerk is authorized to maintain a list of the names of persons inspecting the reports.

Bikeway Reports

Also coming up for council consideration are several advisory board reports. Two deal with bikeways. One is a joint long-range APB/PRAB report which discusses the construction of bicycle facilities in the city and to some points outside the city. A $75,000 program is contemplated with 75 percent of the cost funded by a grant.

The report suggests that the city council conduct two public hearings on the proposal; hold a Saturday morning meeting for the youths of Greenbelt; schedule another meeting with representatives of NASA, the Agricultural Research Center and Greenbriar to discuss the recommendations and necessary rights-of-way; for funding; and set a high priority for implementation of the program.

The other report — PRAB Report 12-74 — is more specific in nature. It makes two recommendations for improving bicycling in the city — (1) to request the State Highway Department to modify the storm drains along Greenbelt Road so that bicycle wheels are not caught in the drains, and (2) to institute a program within the city of constructing curb ramps to benefit bicyclists, the handicapped, and pedestrians with strollers and shopping carts.

New Credit Union Facility

APB Report #151 deals with a request by the owners of the commercial center on behalf of the Greenbelt Federal Credit Union for a special exception and parking modification so as to permit the construction of a new Credit Union between the existing barber shop and shoe repair shop along Centerway.

The new facility is proposed to be one-story cinder block construction with brick facing encompassing approximately 1,200 square feet.

The APB expressed concern that the construction of the new facility not have an adverse effect on the shoe repair shop, which is set back from the street line. The APB was not clear whether the proposal would permit the shoe shop to continue to have frontage and access to Centerway, which it felt was advisable.

Since only a move from one location in the center to another was involved, the APB favored the parking modification request, which waived the need for additional parking spaces.

Regrets Expressed

The Labor Day Festival Committee regrets the disappointment of those who planned to view the parade from Hillside Rd. Unfortunately the description of the new parade route that the Festival Committee gave to the News Review was inaccurate.

CITY NOTES

Last week the general crew spent about all of its time working on the Labor Day Festival, principally building the booths. The special detail crew was involved in doing the electrical work for the festival, while one member of the crew operated the special trash truck. Both Southway Road and the shopping center mall were manicured by the parks crew in preparation for the weekend.

The refuse crew experienced a few problems last week. The foreman and one collector driver were on leave, and one collector was out ill for several days.

Registration for this year's tennis tournament far exceeded expectations. Over 160 matches were played on 12 courts, including 6 at Greenbriar. In all, over 60 trophies were awarded in Recreation Department events.

The Recreation Department received an Award of Merit Plaque for being nominated for the National Gold Medal Award for excellence in the field of Park and Recreation Management. The competition is sponsored by the Sports Foundation, Inc. Irvings Sport Shop (no relation to the Recreation Director) made the nomination.

The Greenbelt CARES Youth Services Bureau announces the expansion of office hours to now include Saturdays, when a social worker will be available from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

WHAT GOES ON

Mon., Sept. 9, 8 p.m., NOW Chapter meeting, Library

8 p.m. City Council Meeting, Municipal Building

Tues., Sept. 10, 7 a.m. — 8 p.m., Primary Election

Thurs., Sept. 12, 7:45 p.m. GHI Meeting, Hamilton Pl.

Tuesday's Primary Has Major Action on Democratic Side

Almost all the action in this Tuesday's primary election is on the Democratic side. At the county level, there are contests for the 5th U.S. Congressional seat, 3 seats in the House of Delegates, 6 at-large county council seats, council members from four of the councilmanic districts, sheriff, register of wills, and circuit court clerk (see chart on page 3). On the Republican side, the only contest is for the Congressional seat between John B. Burcham, Jr. and Frederick C. Taylor.

The polls will be open on Tuesday, September 10, between the hours of 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. Greenbelt voters have three polling places: Center School (third precinct); North End school (sixth precinct); and Springhill Lake elementary school (eighth precinct).

FIRE GUTS GHI FRAME HOME

by Sandra Barnes

The worst fire in the history of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., completely gutted the frame home of Mrs. Patricia Parker, 2-L Research, in the early morning of Labor Day, September 2. No one was in the house at the time except for a small dog which died.

At 7 a.m., a next door neighbor, Jerry Weese, was out sprucing up his 1950 Oldsmobile for the Labor Day Parade. Some 55 minutes later, he was going from his house to his car with a towel to dry the car off, when he was stunned by a shattering blast — the front door of 2-L Research had blown out and smoke and flames were streaming from the opening.

Greenbelt's fire department arrived on the scene at 7:57 a.m. and had the fire under control in 10 minutes. However it was about an hour later before the 17 volunteer firemen felt the flames and smoke were completely in hand. In all, three pumper trucks from Greenbelt were on the scene, plus the chief's car, ambulance, one unit from Berwyn and one from Branchville.

Fire officials believe the cause of the fire to be an over-loaded electrical circuit, probably in the air-conditioning unit in an addition on the first floor of the house. The fire is thought to have smoldered for about four hours before all the oxygen in the room was consumed, at which time the built-up heat and pressure caused the windows and door to explode out.

Damage to the structure is estimated to be between $15,000 and $20,000 and includes two holes in the roof and one in an adjoining house placed there by the firemen. The furnishings were valued at $8,000. There was one injury to a fireman who received second-degree burns on his hand.

Although the burning house was a middle unit (second from the end in a row of six, the fire was contained to that unit only and did not spread to the other houses in the row. Two adjacent houses suffered minor smoke damage. Fire officials attribute this to the fact that the structures are well built and that the first firemen on the scene realized it was a serious fire and were able to contain it quickly so that the flames never reached the common attic.

GHI Manager Roy Breashears cautions people leaving their houses for several days to unplug T.V. sets and air-conditioners. Also, people should make sure that all electrical work done in their home is by a qualified electrician. Work on rebuilding the complete inner structure of the house will begin as soon as the insurance company completes its investigation. GHI insures the structure and is responsible for its reconstruction; the furnishings are the responsibility of the homeowner.

Greenbelt CARES is accepting cash contributions at Twin Pines for the benefit of Mrs. Parker and her grown son and daughter who live with her. Anyone wishing to donate household items or clothing should contact the CARES office: 345-3456.

Voters can only participate in the primary of the party in which they are registered. Independents (unaffiliated) may not vote in primaries.

The Democratic contest creating the most interest in Greenbelt is that for the three House of Delegates seats from the 24th District. The Blue Ribbon ticket consisting of one Greenbelter, Marcia Krasnick, and two non-Greenbelters, Gerald F. Devlin and David Gray Ross, is being challenged by Greenbelt mayor Richard Pilski and five other candidates, including former Bowie mayor Leo Green.

Another Greenbelter, former mayor Francis W. White, is running for reelection to the county council on the Blue Ribbon ticket as one of the six at-large candidates.

Other Greenbelt names appearing on the ballot are Michael A. Gendel for Republican Central Committee and Elizabeth K. Maffay for Republican nomination to House of Delegates.

Democratic registration in Greenbelt exceeds Republican registration by almost 3 to 1. Registered in the three precincts are 4,437 Democrats and 1,574 Republicans. Excluding the 484 unaffiliated voters there are 2,066 registered at Center School, 1,861 at North End, and 2,084 at Springhill Lake.

At the State level, the Democratic ticket of Governor Marvin Mandel — Blair Lee III has three opponents: Morgan L. Amaimo-Milton R. Rothstein; Wilson K. Barnes-Thomas F. Conlon; and Howard L. Gates-August P. Vivirito. On the Republican side, the battle is between the teams of Lawrence J. Hogan-John Cleo Apostol and Louise Gore-Frank Wade.

The U. S. Senate race sees token resistance to Republican incumbent Charles McC Mathias, Jr. in the form of Ross Z. Pierpont. But in the Democratic Senatorial primary, 11 candidates are seeking the nomination — William A. Albaugh, Xavier A. Aragona, Roy L. Chambers, Walter G. Finch, Barbara A. Mikulski, Melvin Perkins, Robert J. Roosevelt, David E. Shaw, Bernard L. Talley, Jr., Jon Allen Thompson, and William W. Youngblood.

New Choral Society: Audition Not Needed

The Greenbelt Choral Society, a mixed chorus newly established and sponsored by the Recreation Department, will conduct its first rehearsal of the season at 7:30 p.m. Wed. Sept. 11 in the Instrument Room of Center School. All interested singers are invited to attend this first meeting; auditions are not required.

The Society is being created to provide residents of the area a unique and exciting opportunity to develop their talents and their interests, and to cultivate appreciation for the performing arts.

The Society will meet weekly each Wednesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. and will perform choral works of both the classical and popular styles. In its initial season the Society will have three concerts, one each in Dec., March and June.

Music Director of the Society will be Douglas Freeman, a music and choir director in the Washington area. Mr. Freeman recently conducted an all-Beethoven concert with the Prince Georges Symphony Orchestra. Accompanist to the Society will be Karen Freeman.

A Dubious Law

To the Editor:

The proposed financial disclosure law for city officials and candidates for office raises many doubts. Basically, I question the applicability of a financial disclosure law to a small town like Greenbelt with its part-time council members and its tradition of citizen participation based on voluntary service. There are already provisions in the city charter forbidding city council members from voting upon issues in which they have a conflict of interest. It does not seem that the conflicts of interest that arise in Greenbelt are so great as to warrant additional legislation — especially a public disclosure law with its accompanying problems of interpretation and enforcement and its potential for mischief.

My first concern is that the existence of a public disclosure law might discourage the participation of the ordinary citizen who often must be prevailed upon by his neighbors and friends to run for office. The thought that a candidate's financial holdings might become the subject of common community talk might well be the final factor in tipping the scales against running.

The law also proposes disclosure of a spouse's financial holdings. While I am not trying to conjure up imaginary circumstances, I can visualize a situation where such information is not known or where the spouse resists disclosure of such information, especially when not sympathetic to his or her mate's running for office! And what would the city clerk, who under the proposed law is given the power of "life" or "death" over a candidacy, do under such circumstances?

In addition, a candidate may be discouraged from running for office for fear of running afoul of the public disclosure law inadvertently or through inexperience and subjecting himself to harassment and possible involvement in litigation on perjury charges. A financial disclosure law involves complicated language and a candidate might well need to hire an attorney to interpret its provisions.

As an example, and this is only one of many, the proposed ordinance exempts from the reporting provisions gifts or loans made by relatives, and a relative is then defined as "persons within the third degree of consanguinity of the person making the statement." (This type of legalism is not the fault of the drafters. It is the inevitable result of trying to draft a foolproof financial disclosure law that covers all contingencies.)

On a broader basis, any public disclosure law is bound to focus attention on a candidate's financial status and away from his or her position on the major issues of the day. Already, we have seen examples of this in the current primary election. I have before me an article from the Prince George's Sentinel of August 21 headlined: "Disclosure Loophole is Issue," describing how an election contest has deteriorated into a squabble over alleged violations of the financial disclosure law.

There is no State or county statute that compels the city council to adopt such an ordinance, and while the good intentions of the council in sponsoring this legislation is to be commended, there has been no demonstrated need in my opinion for such a law at this stage of Greenbelt's development.

Marchers at a Standstill

To the Editor:

While those in charge of the parade — if that boggle of largely immobile groups could be properly called a parade — on Labor Day will doubtless have excuses for its failing to go down Hillside as scheduled and then for the "Marchers" spending most of their time standing still none of the excuses is adequate.

If there were some valid reason for changing the route after the News Review was told that it was going down Hillside and spectators were there, waiting, there can nonetheless be no valid reason for failing to notify the public that the route had been changed.

If it is true that the reason for the long pauses in the march is that the drill teams are maneuvering before the judges' stand, then perhaps it is high time that a limit be set on the antics at that particular point. If these groups wish to engage in spectacular drills they ought to do so at several points along the route in order to have as many of the spectators as possible see them.

A lot of spectators were disappointed. I am positive that a number of the participants, particularly those at the end of the parade who spent nearly two hours waiting to move at all, were also wondering why they had bothered to participate. Let's hope that next year more careful planning goes into it.

More on Parade Mixup

To the Editor:

On Labor Day we were given the biggest snow job in Greenbelt. At 10 a.m. we were sitting along Hillside Rd. waiting for the 20th Annual Labor Day Parade to begin. Never having missed one and after reading that this was to be the greatest ever, we were settled down for something special.

Well the let down didn't hit me right away but I should have known when the usual beginning of the police and Grand Marshall, etc. were missing that something was amiss. This was the advertised parade route and I couldn't believe that this hoax was being played on us.

We were not treated to the usual float of Miss Greenbelt and her court. And this year the added attraction of the new Jr. Miss Greenbelt was nowhere to be seen. Where were they and the other beautiful floats we were told to expect?

Nothing was printed in the events for Monday that these and other anticipated participants were to be added along the route. So after sitting 2½ hours in the hot sun we went home angry and feeling cheated.

I thought Watergate was over with but it looks as if we had our own right here.

Thanks from Devlin

To the Editor:

I would like to close my campaign for the Democratic nomination for the House of Delegates by thanking all those residents of the 24th District who extended the hand of friendship to me and my two running mates Marcia Krasnick and David Gray Ross, during our doorknocking campaign.

The cordiality with which we were treated was a touching experience and one which the three of us will long remember. In fact, only a half dozen or so persons treated us with less than courtesy despite the fact that we visited more than 8,000 homes. This says a lot for the kind of people who live in our community.

We certainly hope that we are all nominated next Tuesday, but whether we are or not, we leave this experience with a lot of pleasant memories . . .

Gerard F. Devlin

Democratic Candidate for House of Delegates, 24th District

Endorsing Pilski

To the Editor:

Over the past 12 years we have had the opportunity to work with Mayor Richard Pilski in the Prince Georges Municipal League and the Metropolitan Council of Governments.

We have found that Mayor Pilski not only represented the municipal interests of Greenbelt, but the interest of all the citizens of all the municipalities. His efforts on the tax differential committee in Prince Georges County were instrumental in returning a substantial amount of money to all municipalities.

We believe Mayor Pilski's experience qualifies him to work effectively and successfully for all the residents of the 24th district, and we support his candidacy for the House of Delegates.

We hope you will seriously consider Mayor Pilski in making your selection.

An Open Letter

To Registered Democrats

To the Editor:

In my mind there is only one thing worse than a slate and that happens to be a Blue Ribbon Slate. Four years ago it was the Alliance for Action; since those slate promises went unkept, the arrogant power brokers needed a new euphemism to disguise their lust for more power at the citizens' expense.

Ask members of this Blue Ribbon Slate how they feel about (1) the use of package sewage treatment plants to circumvent the sewage moratorium, (2) the proposals for truck routes down Kenilworth Ave. and B-W Parkway, (3) proposals to diminish the influence that local municipal governments can have on zoning actions.

Fellow Democrats, a primary is a meeting of members of a party in an election to nominate the most able candidates to represent that party in the general election. Don't forfeit your role in the selection process by allowing the machine power brokers to make the decision for you. On Sept 10th please vote and support those independent candidates who will represent you and not special interests.

What a Festival!

To the Editor:

What a Festival! Such a full schedule and such variety! We must have had a marvelous town to put on something like we've just experienced. The hundreds of people who organized and worked on all the activities and booths made the 20th anniversary both a special year itself and a fitting tribute to the past. The presence of Mrs. Don Bullian, Mr. Henry Brautigan, and Mr. Vincent Caruso was an inspiration to those who remember the hard work by a few persons who kept the Festival going. And the Outstanding Citizen Award went to a couple who have really helped make this town a great place — Al & Elaine Skolnik.

Some personal comments: Diane — I think your revision of my schedule format is beautiful. It's easy to read and efficient (why didn't I think of it?) Pat — the parade is the toughest job in the Festival and you did extremely well. I hope you'll be back for a second shot next year. Shirley — the Queen's float was beautiful and a testimonial to your dedication. Mary — the Labor Salute was just right. It was needed and you did it well. Bill — I loved those mountain style clog dancers on Monday night. Pat — you did it again. Never thought someone else could really, really handle Special Events and you did a superb job. Wasn't it a great weekend in a great town?

Skolniks Named Outstanding Citizens

by Al Herling

Elaine and Alfred Skolnik were named Greenbelt's Outstanding Citizens for 1974. Announcement of the signal honor was made at the opening ceremonies of the 20th Annual Greenbelt Labor Day Festival.

The naming of the couple as Greenbelt's Outstanding Citizens brought enthusiastic applause from the assembled crowd, leaving little, if any doubt, that the citation was not only merited but truly represented a citizen consensus.

Bill Lawson, Chairman of the Award Committee, summarized the reasons for the choice of Elaine and Alfred Skolnik by presenting a capsule review of the Skolniks' contributions to the people of the city. The summary included the leadership provided the community through the News Review which, for so many years, has remained a viable institution through the persistent efforts and unfailing dedication of the honored couple.

High on the list of services rendered the people of the City of Greenbelt was assumption of the extraordinary burden assumed by the Skolniks in withstanding the pressures involved in fighting for freedom of the press. The burden was carried for four years in the face of adverse lower court rulings until final vindication was gained in a unanimous decision of the U.S. Supreme Court. Their contribution in this connection was national in scope and effect.

Members of the Committee, in addition to Chairman Bill Lawson, were: Leroy Beall, Shari Beck, Marjorie Bergemann, Betty Lehman, Steve Polaschik, and Jim O'Sullivan.

The Skolniks were presented with a plaque signifying the honor bestowed upon them, and Mrs. Sharon Moore, a resident of Springhill Lake, representing the C&P Telephone Co., presented the couple with a $100 U.S. Savings Bond in appreciation of their contribution to and participation in community affairs.

By virtue of their selection as Greenbelt's Outstanding Citizens, Elaine and Alfred were designated Parade Marshals of the Labor Day Parade.

Here roughly are the voting areas of which Greenbelt is a part. Greenbelt belongs to the 24th Legislative District for purposes of electing a State Senator and three members of the House of Delegates to the Maryland General Assembly. Greenbelt also votes for eleven county councilmen, six of whom are running at large, the others from districts in which they reside. Greenbelt is part of the 1st Councilmanic District for this purpose. Greenbelt is also part of the 5th U. S. Congressional District which occupies the northern half of Prince Georges county.

GHI DIRECTORS WRESTLE WITH FUEL, INVESTMENT PROBLEMS

by Miriam Corneliuss

Energy conservation plans and investment policies were the chief subjects discussed at a special meeting of the board of directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. on Thurs., Aug. 29.

GHI manager Roy Breashears submitted figures showing that GNMA escrow funds totalling $171,739 are already committed to the heating program — $56,709 for the modification of the four large burners, and $115,030 for the variable temperature control project and the conversion of 12 Court Ridge from steam to hot water. These are the projects authorized at the special membership meeting on April 17.

Available for further heating improvements, Breashears' figures showed, are the remainder of the GNMA payment of $186,719.96 for the first seven months of the year and the entire payment of $135,135.40 for the last five months. Director Hugh O'Donnell reported that his Task Force is ready with further proposed projects for energy conservation — projects that should be completed before the beginning of winter. First, however, the projects must be approved by the membership. O'Donnell called for a special membership meeting early in the fall for this purpose.

Investment Policy

The question previously raised by directors Hugh O'Donnell and Joseph Comproni (see letter in Greenbelt News Review, Aug. 29) had been referred to the Finance committee. It was on the agenda for the Aug. 29 board meeting but was held over because the Finance committee has not yet made a recommendation. This matter relates to a provision of the bylaws requiring that GHI funds be invested in accounts that are fully insured.

Comproni stressed the importance of segregating the deferral ("balloon") funds in a separate investment and showing them separately in reports to members.

Procedure on Bylaw Changes

President James Smith introduced the subject of a special membership meeting on the proposed by-law change which was petitioned to the annual membership meeting last spring, but was not voted on. The proposal called for a one-day election of officers instead of the present two-day election. A parliamentary ruling that the question should be removed from the voting machine to allow for discussion and amendment was upheld by vote of the members present. The members then voted to direct the board to hold a special membership meeting some time before the 1975 annual meeting to vote on the proposed bylaw change.

Smith suggested the appointment of an Ad Hoc Bylaw committee, which would consider the whole question of amendments, including the petitioners' proposal, and would invite ideas from other interested members. "In fact," he quipped, "we need to change the way the bylaws are changed."

A motion by O'Donnell that the board function as a Committee of the Whole in the matter of the bylaws and possible amendments thereto was adopted.

Special Membership Meeting — or Meetings?

Smith proposed holding a special membership meeting on bylaw changes some time between February and April. This schedule would allow time for the board to concentrate on the budget during the fall, he pointed out, and give members opportunity to submit proposals for changes.

O'Donnell thought bylaw changes could be handled at the same meeting as the heating program, early in the fall.

Director Don Volk disagreed and said there should be two membership meetings — one on the heating improvements and one on the bylaws. Directors Steve Polaschik and Norm Weyel noted that the energy-saving program is urgent, indicating a need for two special membership meetings. Director Ted Byerly added that, in view of the obligated funds, the heating Task Force proposals should have high priority, as the membership must approve the specifics in advance. Janet James of the Audit Committee also spoke in favor of two special membership meetings.

O'Donnell and Comproni moved that the proposed bylaw change be made an item on the agenda for a special membership meeting in October, and that the agenda not be limited at the present time to that item, in anticipation of the need for special authorization for the energy conservation program. This motion failed.

Volk then made a motion, which was seconded by Director Virginia Moryadas and carried, that the board commit itself to presenting bylaw changes at a special membership meeting as early as possible in 1975, at least 60 days before the annual meeting.

Other Items

Breashears reported that the payment of 70 percent of the fire insurance premium as previously authorized by a majority of the board was not acceptable to the Diamond Insurance Company, because the company was required to pay the entire premium of $20,861 by August 25. Rather than cancel the binder, Breashears after consulting all available board members by telephone had written a check for the full amount. A motion to confirm this action carried unanimously.

Comproni then moved, with Polaschik as seconder, to refer the insurance question to the Finance committee for further study — (1) to consider the advisability of GHI's retaining an insurance adviser; and (2) to review present insurance arrangements. This motion also was adopted.

A member, Martin Holly of 45 Court Ridge, asked to be recognized from the floor. He stated that he has organized a committee of members concerned with the maintenance program, publicity, and elections. He criticized the chairman of the human relations committee, Hugh O'Donnell, for not being willing to inspect the repair job done on a garage roof; Breashears for not having had the job done properly in the first place; and the Greenbelt News Review for its emphasis on social affairs — "tea and crumpets" reporting, as he phrased it.

The next regular meeting of the board of directors is scheduled for Thursday, September 12.

Long Distance Race Results

Andy Feeney of Northway, a freshman at the Univ. of Md., won the two-mile running race in 10:25 seconds over a field of 120 others at the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival on Sunday, Sept. 1.

Heinz Weigand, 26, of Colledale, Tenn., won the featured 15 Kilometer (9.3 mile) race over a field of 63 runners on a course from Braden Field out through the Agricultural Farm and back. Weigand started out slowly, was 5th at the mile and second by 200 yards at the turnaround. Just the previous Thurs., Weigand had finished a coast-to-coast run across the U.S. with another runner ending at Rehoboth Beach, Del. They averaged 43 miles a day, not near the record, which is oddly held by a walker. Weigand's run across the country was to spotlight physical fitness and was sponsored by the Heart Association. Second to Weigand's 52:45 was Dick Pankow of the U.S. Army and Oxon Hill, Md. About seven women and seven Greenbelt men finished the 15 kilo.

The 189 runners and joggers of all ages and both sexes were a colorful sight and amply displayed the physical fitness and athletic ability the co-sponsors (Labor Day Festival Recreation Center and the D.C. Road Runners) were trying to promote. Complete results are not available now but will be soon on display at Twin Pines and the Youth Center.

"Eyewitness on Cyprus"

An eyewitness account of the recent civil war on Cyprus will be presented by James Loizou at Mishkan Torah on Sunday, Sept. 8, at 8 p.m. (refreshments at 7:30).

Loizou, an American who grew up on Cyprus, returned there for a vacation with his wife and 4 grown children three days before the government was overthrown. Then his ordeal — written up in the Washington Star-News — began. The public is invited to hear the full story on Sunday — entrance is free.

Earlier on Sun. there will be an Open House from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. for prospective members and parents interested in enrolling their children in the Religious School. A tour of the synagogue and school will be given and refreshments served.

Home Baked Bread

Many people have requested the recipe for the bread made at the Labor Day Salute to Working Americans. The recipe follows:

Penny's Hippy Bread (Shields 474-5056)

Heat in saucepan to very warm: 2½ c. water, 1 tbl. sugar, ½ c. shortening, 1½ tsp. salt, ¾ c. honey.

Place in mixing bowl: 4 c. unbleached white flour, 1½ tbs. dry yeast.

Place in second bowl: 4 c. unbleached white flour, ½ c. wheat germ.

Beat well: 2 eggs.

Pour warm liquids and eggs over flour and yeast mixture. Beat 3 minutes. Beat in other flour mixture. Dump mixture out on floured board and knead 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl and allow to rise until almost double. Punch down. Dump onto lightly floured board and divide into 3 pieces. Shape each piece into a loaf and place in greased bowl and allow to rise to top of pan. Bake at 375° for 35 minutes. Cool on racks.

Goldiggers Registration

The award winning Greenbelt Goldigger Majorette Drum Corps, and Color Guard are now holding registration. Any children interested in joining are welcome.

The majorettes are under the instruction of Evelyn Knott, Brenda Mortfeld, and Becky Monfrida. The Bells and drummers are taught by Sgt. Tom VanValkenburgh and the color guard is taught by David Campbell who is assisted by Don Bowen.

The Goldiggers are accepting drummers and color guard members between the ages of 8 - 18. Majorettes will be accepted from the age of 6 and up.

The Goldiggers Color Guard won the 1973 Maryland State Championship. The Junior Drummers and Juvenile majorettes each won first place at Eastern Regional Championships. Also this year the Advanced Juniors and Seniors each won 3rd place at Maryland State Contests.

Anyone wanting to become a part of this award winning group may register between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. on September 17, at Center School, or Sept. 11th and 18th at the Greenbelt Fire House.

The Natural Way

The newly organized Greenbelt Group of La Leche League will hold its first meeting on Thursday, Sept. 12, at 8:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Margaret Bridge, 65-C Ridge Rd.

The name, La Leche, is Spanish and means "the milk." A non-sectarian, non-profit organization, the League's purpose is to help encourage "good mothering through breastfeeding." The group will meet the second Thursday of each month. Topic of the first meeting: Advantages of Breastfeeding to Mother and Child.

All women who are interested in nursing their babies are invited — as are their babies and any other women who are interested.

For further information about the new group, call Mrs. Bridge at 474-1463.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

Prince Georges has one of the largest volunteer programs in the country. Volunteers work with youngsters under the guidance of classroom and resource teachers in the areas of language development, reinforcement of reading and speech skills, story telling and creative dramatics, one-to-one tutoring and assistance in special education classes. It's great experience for parents and non-parents alike, and anyone looking for a satisfying project should call 459-1500 for more information.

Who cares about the energy shortage?

"I do. So I'm glad I have a gas range."

Gas ranges make the most efficient use of energy resources, since natural gas is delivered right to your home as useable energy. None is wasted through the generation and transmission of power. There isn't enough gas right now to supply new customers. But if you already have gas in your home—lucky you!

When you replace your old gas range, plan to get a new gas range. It's the way to make a good thing even better. Lucky you!

NOW Chapter to Meet

The Northern Prince Georges Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) will meet in the Greenbelt Library at 8 p.m. on Mon. Sept. 9. The National NOW vice-president for Public Relations, Cathy Irwin, will speak on "Turning Frustration Into Action." Ms. Irwin is the former president of the D.C. Chapter of NOW.

Men are most welcome at this and any other NOW meeting. According to the Chapter, expanding areas of activity for women mean that men should be relieved of the excessive tension-creating burdens of caring for too many clinging vines.

English - To Japanese - To English Greenbelt Story Comes Out Like This

(The following article about Greenbelt appeared in the Japanese magazine, "Foto Fact," and was translated by a young Japanese employed in the same War Department office in Japan as Bill Stewart, 4-C Hillside, who sent in the article to the Cooperator.—Editor's note).

Green Belt Town: The Town that has been Constructed by Plan. Three towns have been constructed by the plan that lets small income families live in modern houses in U.S.A.

This attempt is the first one even in U.S.A. These towns are called as "Green Belt Town" — in Japanese, "Ryokuchitai-no-machi" — means the town made wholesome, beautiful and calm by the surrounding parks, fields and woods, etc. This attempt is a bold counter measure to relieve the overpopulated cities, and they've got the hint of these wholesome beautiful towns from the developing direction of modern houses.

They've, for instance, constructed one town in New Jersey as a private enterprise, where there are more parks and woods, etc., and less streets than in other cities and where mainroads on which many heavy wheels are passing always don't pass the doors of houses. But, further inspection tells us that the origin of "Green Belt Town" is in England.

They constructed "Garden City" — in Japanese, "Teientosh" — in England a few years ago. That's the origin of "Green Belt Town."

There are three green-belt-towns in U.S.A. The one which lies seven miles north of Washington, in Maryland, is called "Green Belt," the one which lies five miles north of Cincinnati, Ohio, is called "Green Hills," and the one which lies three miles southeast of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, is called "Green Dale."

Their names are something very beautiful that can be found out only in poem. Selection and plan of lands had been discussed in detail by central government officials and local officials beforehand.

This article was illustrated and explanations of the numbered photographs follow. (Ed. note)

Here we show some pictures of Green Belt that has been constructed near Washington.

1) Seven graded elementary school There are "library for youth" and "Art and Technology room" in this building. The auditorium of this school can be used for general meetings, religious functions and for a gymnasium. There is a high school about one mile far from city centre, and it is used for inhabitants of this town and its vicinity. Besides, there are busses for attending the school.

2) The houses in this town have been constructed to make use of sunshine as possible as they can and also to be able to see very fine sights. People give individual appearance to their houses by using various materials and colors. Every house has bath room, toilet room, shelf for drugs, cup board, scullery, cold storage, blind, curtain and electric equipments.

There are 374 houses, include 16 two-storied houses, and the house rent for seven rooms (2-storied house) is 29 dollars a month. The house rent include the charge for electric power. There are a few houses which have basements. The rent of these houses is 41 dollars a month. Houses that are mentioned above are combined buildings. There are five non-combined, separated houses. The rent of these houses is a little precious than that of combined houses.

3) It is one of the prominent characteristics of this town to take great care of trees and lawns. Almost every house has lawn or field instead of concrete roads. They have also gardens for flowers and vegetables outside.

4) Well lighted and neat room. Grasses and trees instead of roads can be seen through windows. The average income of families that are living in these houses is $1,000 - $2,000 one year.

5) A boy playing with his toy train by the window of bedroom.

6) Clean and convenient kitchen. The great difference of "Green Belt" with other cities that have been constructed ever is that it is the town constructed by the complete plan. The plan was made on the viewpoint of not only each house but also whole town.

Roads, schools, shops, parks and houses have been constructed by considering of the high efficiency and the great convenience. The lands and buildings are all property of U.S.A. Though the role of government is only owner of them, but administration of this town is performed by the liberal will power of inhabitants.

More explanations of photographs. (Ed. note.)

1) Periodical musical performance by boys and girls of the high school.

2) The swimming pool: This pool can be used free by the inhabitants of "Green Belt" and its vicinity.

Besides this, there is a 25-acre lake on which people can row boats, baseball ground, tennis court, gymnasium and places good for picnic. Woods that surround the town are very good place for camping.

3) A weekly newspaper is published by the people who has interest in it, and sociological, educational problems and welfare facilities are discussed by the people.

4) There are modern apartment house in "Green Belt." Now there are 306 apartment houses. We can rent one room for more than 18 $ a month, we can also rent three rooms for 27 $ a month, and can rent three rooms with sleeping porch for 32 $ a month. The rent includes charges for guards, electric power and water.

We can economize the charge for electric power in winter, and it's very cool in summer because of the complete severed relations of room.

5) The down town of "Green Belt" There are movie theaters, grocery's, barber's, beauty shops, dry-cleaning, shoe mending, gas office, post office, bus stations, police station and fire stations, etc.

There are many benches on which mothers with their children can take rest after their morning shopping.

These scenes cannot be found in any other city.

6) Gasoline station, like theatres and shops, are under the consumption guild system.

It is the first job for consumption guild to manage gasoline stations. Nowadays, consumption guild manages many jobs, and its management and profits are in the hand of a cooperative society of inhabitants. There is a manager in this town like local government, and the inhabitants have the right of election and can elect five members of a committee that can make plans and let manager carry them out. This committee has also the right of appointment and dismissal of the manager.

Walk-In Counseling Service Available at Local Schools

Teams of Prince Georges school counselors, psychologists and pupil personnel workers will be available at 11 walk-in counseling centers one evening each week. These centers provide counseling services to residents of Prince Georges County during convenient evening hours. There are no fees and those interested in the service needn't bother to make an appointment in advance . . . just walk in. The atmosphere is relaxed and informal.

In many instances a parent or student with a problem will solve it with the assistance of the team of professionals at the centers in one evening. If further visits are necessary, a schedule convenient to the caller will be arranged. Conferences are held in private and notes are not held on file.

Among the centers are DuVal Senior High School and Northwestern Senior High. For further information on the evening walk-in centers, call 627-4800, extension 224.

"Hot line" on Schools

Prince Georges citizens can get up-to-the-minute school news by calling 627-2030. A different news message is recorded each day and offers the latest information available about school programs, board of education meetings, emergency closing of schools and other items of interest.

A summary of actions is recorded after every school board meeting. These meetings are generally held on the second Tuesday of each month, and on the last Thursday of each month.

At the end of the recorded message, citizens are encouraged to leave a message, hopefully a constructive suggestion for improving school programs and services or communication between school administrators and the public. For general information about the school system, citizens should call the Office of Information Services, 627-4145.
